

Dr. Danilo Rocco is an expert in pulmonary oncology.

He graduated in Medicine and Surgery from the University of Naples in 1999. From the same University he also obtained the Specialization in Respiratory Diseases in 2003 and in Oncology in 2007.

Dr. Rocco specializes in lung cancer, pleural cancer, immunotherapy, molecular therapy and lung cancer diagnosis.

He is currently responsible and coordinator of the GOM of pleuropulmonary neoplastic pathology at the Azienda Ospedaliera dei Colli di Napoli.

He is the author of numerous scientific publications of national and international fame.

He is Principal Investigator of more than 20 international clinical trials.